A stomachful of undigested food is about as unhealthy a mass as one can well imagine.

There it stays. It won't digest. It churns up, ferments and decays; becomes poisonous (as all putrid matter does) and causes great pain and deep-seated disorders.

In order to change all this, take Shaker Digestive Cordial.

It stops fermentation and decay at once, so that no more poisons are created. It clears the stomach of poisons already there. It holds it to turn the food that remains, into healthful nourishment. It strengthens the stomach for the next meal.

Here is the whole philosophy and cure of indigestion in a few words. And what's more, it's all true. Try it.

Shaker Digestive Cordial is for sale by druggists, price 10 cents to $1.00 a bottle.

The Dragon Fly.

No one could fail to be struck with the singularly perfect adaptation of the insect's structure to a life of aerial piracy. The four wings are large and, in proportion to their weight, enormously strong. Each is supported by a wonderfully arranged network of slender ribs, which give the necessary rigidity to the thin, transparent membrane forming its basis. The muscles by which the wings are moved are massive and powerful and are so arranged among themselves that the animal is capable of steering its course with an unerring accuracy which any bird might envy. In this power it is largely aided by a marvelous keenness of sight, for, in addition to the two great, gorgeous, colored compound eyes which make up so much of the head, the insect possesses three smaller "simple" eyes, making five eyes in all. The prey when overtaken is seized and devoured by means of powerful, sharply toothed jaws.

An animal which lives such an active life naturally requires a very perfect breathing apparatus, and this is amply provided by a system of holes on the sides of the body which open into an elaborate network of air tubes, supplying every part of the system. The air in these tubes is constantly renewed by the regular compression and dilatation of the body by special muscles.—Chambers' Journal.

Murder of the Archbishop of Paris.

It was during the outbreak in June, 1848, that the heroic death of the saintly archbishop of Paris, Mgr. Affre, occurred, says C. F. B. Miel in The Atlantic. The soul of this devout man was deeply moved by the spirit of strife among the people. It cut him to the heart to see Paris on the verge of a fratricidal war, and God's call seemed clear to him, as the spiritual father of the community, not to spare himself in any endeavor to restore order and promote peace. Accordingly on the morning of the 27th he proceeded to the scene of the conflict and mounted the barricades to plead with the populace on the one hand, and the soldiery on the other. Scarcely had he uttered the words "My children" when a shot fired from a neighboring building pierced him, and he fell dead before the eyes of the mob. This tragic event was enough. A horror seemed to seize every one at the enormity of the crime, and from that moment the insurrection ceased. Truly the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep.

The Value of the Italian Army.

The army costs about $9,000,000 a year. The rank and file under arms—i. e., the actual standing army—is about 140,000 to 180,000 men, and is never large enough, without calling out the reserves, to maintain order in case of such troubles as the recent one of 1895. The army is the best school in Italy and has done more to develop and unify the various and once hostile populations than all other agencies. Those who have seen much of the Italian soldiers will, I think, be ready to testify that in all that concerns the making of men the army is worth all the universities in the peninsula, for it teaches discipline, which is taught in no other school, nor in the family. It is the one institution in Italy, and I make no exception, which is not demoralized.—Spectator.

A Suicide Machine.

It is said there formerly existed in India a machine for the use of the would be suicides whereby they could cut off their heads. It was half moon shaped, with a sharp edge, was fastened at the back of the neck, chains being attached to the ends. The men who donned this instrument went to death, put his feet in the chains, gave a sharp jerk downward and severed his head from the body.

In the Mexican Household.

The arrangement of furniture is much more formal than in the United States. It is a very common sight to see a splendidly furnished parlor with a row of straight backed chairs all alike with their backs against the wall and as close together as they can be placed clear around the room. Heavy single doors, such as are used in the United States, are practically unknown in Mexican houses either at entrances or between interior rooms. All doors open in the middle and are fastened with bolts top and bottom. Exterior doors are always fitted with glass panels, for they also serve as windows. All such doors opening on the street or open court are fitted with solid shutters that are folded at the sides out of sight when not in use.—Modern Mexico.

He Couldn't See It.

Speaking of money reminds me of a story I read the other day. An American in London, talking of an unfortunate person who had just died, quoted Arden's Ward's saying: "It would have been money in his pocket if he'd never been born." The Americans present laughed heartily, but the Englishmen sat sober as owls, and after a moment or two of silence one of them broke out with: "But, I say, if he had never been born he wouldn't have had any pockets, don't you know?"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Remembered One Thing.

In the course of a tedious trial, involving the possession of a stock of goods, a man who had formerly been employed as a traveling salesman was testifying. "Do you mean to say, sir," asked the attorney for the plaintiff, "that you can't remember what you carried in your valise on the trip in question?" "I didn't say I couldn't remember," replied the witness. "I said that at this late day it was impossible for me to recollect everything I carried on that particular trip." "Don't evade the question, sir!" thundered the attorney. "I want to know what was in that valise!" "Samples." "Samples of what? Mention some particular thing." "Well," said the witness after reflecting a moment, "I remember I had a sample of a rather inferior hair dye, about the sort, I judge, that you have on your whiskers, sir." "You may stand aside," gruffly said the lawyer after the noise in the courtroom had subsided.—Exchange.

THE GIRL AND HER COLLEGE.

The Training Received is Undoubtedly of Inestimable Benefit to Her.

"It is sometimes argued that the college unfits a woman for domestic life," writes Edward Bok in The Ladies' Home Journal. "That is true, I think, only so far as a girl can or cannot adapt herself from one condition to another. The difference between the college and the home is simply the difference between all training and real work in the world. If a college course is rightly understood and taken advantage of, it will prepare rather than unfit a girl for the wisest government of a house. If she has used her time and opportunities at college well, her training of system and discipline will prove of the first importance to her in conducting the domestic machinery. Aside from the direct application of her training to her work, she has the great advantage of resources of mental refreshment when moments of leisure come to her. The domestic courses, now being so generally introduced into the curriculum of our girls' colleges, also give a practical value to a college education for a girl which it did not possess a few years ago. The value of these courses lies in the foundation which they give a girl to build upon.

"All things being equal, a college training is unquestionably a source of inestimable value to a girl, as it is to a man, and she is the better equipped for her duties of wife and mother because of it. Knowledge is always valuable. Yet it does not by any means follow that a girl unable to go through college is at a disadvantage with her girl friend who did. Where it is feasible and possible it is an excellent part of a girl's equipment, and its advantages will come back to her a thousand-fold in her future years. But in the majority of cases a college training is not feasible or possible. If going to college simply means to a girl's mind the fun to be had, it is infinitely better that she should remain at home. If a girl is inclined to be selfish and hungry simply for a brilliant career, it is wisest that the softening influences of a home remain her portion. If she is physically not strong, the home care is a thousand times better for her than the best care she can procure at any school or college."

ON ACCUMULATING MONEY.

The Place to Begin, Mr. Goszleby Thinks, Is Right Where a Man Is.

"Why, say," said Mr. Goszleby, "the more I think of it the more I think that the place for a man to begin is right where he is. I don't see how going west, or going south, or going any other place is going to keep him unless he's got it in him. Even in fast growing places with a tremendous boom on the bulk of the people work for day's wages, just as they do here. The people there don't all get rich, by a long shot, and the comparatively few that accumulate wealth get it by the exercise of the same qualities that command wealth everywhere—namely, ability to recognize opportunities and promptness to seize them.

"Opportunities exist everywhere, but the number of really great opportunities is always proportionately small, and these are always taken up by the men who have not only brains, but courage. Luck may strike a man occasionally, but the chances are millions to one against it, and it never strikes a man who waits for it. Money of course gives a man greatly added power. The rich man can seize opportunities that the poor man can't touch. But pretty much all the rich men in this country were once poor. They made the money themselves, as every man has the right to do for himself. It may be put in here that it is a mighty good thing for a man to have a few hundred dollars laid by. It may come handy any time. Get ahead a little.

"As to the place to begin there is none any better than right where a man is. He sees the difficulties there, familiar as he is with his surroundings, but it's just the same 50 miles or 1,000 miles west. There where everything is new to him the conditions might seem easier and more favorable, but in reality they are just the same. The great majority of men there are plugging away for a mere existence, and here, as in his own town, the man who is making the money are the men of brains and courage and enterprise and frugality.

Speed of Electricity.

The speed of electricity is so great that its passage from point to point along a conducting wire may be regarded as practically instantaneous. Various attempts have been made to measure the rate at which it travels, and observers with delicate instruments have affirmed that it was not less than 114,000 miles per second, and in one or two places its speed was as high as 240,000 miles.

"A man with blood in his eye," remarked the observer of men and things, "has just as much less blood in his heart."—Detroit Journal.

About one month ago my child, which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief, we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumpston, Gilmer Co., W. Va. My Dear Dorothy:

Do you realize how often we pass the simple little things in life, striving to obtain the greater ones, when the smaller ones would give us more satisfaction. Now this truth was brought forcibly to my mind the other day when a man tried to sell me a patent broiler, which would not allow the meat to get smoked the least little bit. I think I can tell you of a "broiler" that will be very inexpensive and always at hand—salt.

Don't laugh, because it is all right, and I know that a dull or smouldering fire may be made clear and bright for broiling by a handful of salt thrown over it. Try it.

Now as a fire extinguisher salt is again a king. Put twenty pounds of salt and ten pounds of nitrate of ammonia in ten gallons of water, dissolve and bottle, and when something gets on fire throw the contents of one of these bottles over it and effective work will be accomplished. By spraying the articles the fire will be rapidly extinguished, as an incombustible coating is formed.

Copper and brass may be quickly cleaned by dipping half a lemon in salt and rubbing the tarnished objects, and stains may be removed from the fingers by the same means.

Unless you put sufficient salt in bread it will soon become dry and acid, and will crumble.

A little salt added to mustard keeps it from souring and gives it a fine flavor. When you have boiled strong vegetables like cabbage, cauliflower or onions in your kettles, and an odor is retained, throw a handful of salt on the stove and turn the kettle directly over it. In a few minutes they will be as sweet as new ones.

At this season green salads are very generally served. All salad materials, like lettuce, chicory, celery, and the like, should be soaked in cold salted water, to destroy the animalcules or small worms.

Have your kitchen girl pour strong, salted water down the drains, as sewer gas is counteracted by salt. In England in the coast towns sea water is used to lay the dust in the streets, and it is more effective, than fresh water.

If you wish to be rid of moths in carpets wipe thoroughly with salt and water.

As a medicine salt is very valuable. Many times when a child I had to use a gargle of salt and water for a sore throat, and it is excellent, as it cleanses the palate and a furred tongue. A pinch of salt on the tongue, followed 10 minutes after by a dring of cold water, often cures a sick headache. Salt will harden the gums, make the teeth white and sweeten the breath. Rose cold, hay fever and similar troubles may be relieved by using fine salt as a snuff.

It is said that America is a nation of dyspeptics, but we might rid ourselves of that title in a great measure if those who suffer in that way would drink a cup of hot water in which a teaspoonful of salt is dissolved, three times a day.

Tired eyes are strengthened by bathing in warm, salted water, and public speakers and singers use salt and water for making the voice clear.

A few days ago I saw some pretty glass salt receivers to use for celery or nuts. They were the size and shape of butter patties, but were of the clearest glass, with a star cut in the bottom. They are a pretty addition to the table, and should always be filled, for no one should eat nuts without a sprinkle of salt.

I could tell you any number of other uses for the plain, cheap article, as a little in milk to keep it sweet longer, to use as a polish for flat irons, to set the color in colored fabrics, to stop the children's toothache, but I think if you remember all I have told you that you will agree with me that a simple thing is oftentimes as effective and valuable as a more pretentious one.

Yours culinarily,
COMFORT JONES,
Doctor of Cookery.

EGG SOUP.

Boil a leg of lamb about two hours in water enough to cover it. After it has boiled about an hour and has been carefully skimmed, add one-half cupful of rice and season to taste. Have ready in your tureen two eggs well beaten; add your boiling soup, a little at a time, stirring constantly. Serve the lamb with drawn butter garnished with parsley and hard boiled eggs, cut in slices.

HOMINY PUDDING.

Three cupfuls of hominy porridge, three eggs, two cupfuls of milk, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, half a teaspoonful of salt. Add a little nutmeg and meringue and bake in a hot oven.

CHEESE SCUFFLE.

Melt one tablespoonful of butter, add one and one-half tablespoonfuls of flour mixed with one-half teaspoonful of salt and a few grains of cayenne. Add gradually one-half cupful of scalded milk; then add one-third cupful of grated cheese. Remove from the fire, add the yolks of three eggs well beaten until they are stiff and of a light color. Cool the mixture and cut and fold in the whites of three eggs which have been beaten until stiff. Pour into a buttered pudding dish and bake 20 minutes in a slow oven. Serve hot.

YORKSHIRE PUDDING TO SERVE WITH ROAST BEEF.

Three eggs, well beaten, to which add nine tablespoonfuls of flour, a small teaspoonful of salt, and beat up with milk until about the consistency of cream. This batter pour into the pan in which the beef has been roasted, having enough grease (which must be hot) to bake it. Bake in a quick oven.

HOMINY GEMS.

Stir into one quart of water one cupful of hominy, first salting the water to taste and boil one hour. To one cupful of this porridge add one cupful of sweet milk, two eggs, two tablespoonfuls melted butter, half a teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and enough flour to make a batter. Beat hard and bake in gem pans.

HOMINY CROQUETTES.

To a cupful of cold boiled hominy add a tablespoonful of melted butter, and mix it well, adding by degrees a cupful of milk till all is made into a soft light paste; add a teaspoonful of white sugar and one well beaten egg. Roll into oval balls with floured hands; dip in beaten egg, then in cracker crumbs and fry in fat.

SCALLOPED TURKEY.

Butter a baking dish and arrange alternate layers of cold sliced turkey and boiled rice. Pour over this white, brown or tomato sauce. Cover with buttered cracker crumbs and bake in a hot oven until the crumbs are brown.

SUMMER DISHES REQUIRING LITTLE COOKING.

String Bean Salad—Two and one-half cups cold, cooked string beans cut into half inch pieces, one head lettuce, French dressing No. 2. Wash and crisp the lettuce and arrange in salad bowl, place the beans in center and turn over all the French dressing.

Creamed Peas in Biscuit Baskets.—One quart cooked green peas or one can peas, two cups milk, two tablespoonfuls butter, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, one teaspoon scraped onion, six Shredded Wheat Biscuits, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon salt. If green peas are used, cook in boiling unsalted water until tender. Just before they are done add one teaspoon salt. Then drain and add one level tablespoon butter. Make a white sauce of the milk, butter, flour, salt, paprika and onion juice, cook two minutes and add the peas. Prepare the baskets by cutting with a sharp pointed knife an oblong cavity in the top of Biscuit, ¼ inch from ends and sides. Remove top and all inside shreds. Toast a light brown in oven, fill with the creamed peas and serve hot, with tomato sauce sent to the table in a tureen to be added there.

Wheat-Shred Drink Jelly.—One box Cox's gelatine, one pint cold water, one quart boiling hot Wheat-Shred drink, one cup sugar, whites two eggs. Put the gelatine to soak in the cold water for ¼ hour or more, then dissolve with the quart of boiling liquid. Add the sugar, then the whites of the eggs beaten to a stiff froth, stir in well and put on the fire to boil (do not stir). Let it come to a boil then remove from fire. Let it stand one minute, skim and strain through a flannel bag. Turn into mould wet with cold water and set away to harden. Serve with cream and sugar.

The mother who is considerate for the health and comfort of her family, including herself, is not stewing over a hot stove these warm days, but is providing the already cooked Shredded Wheat Biscuit, with fruit, vegetables, milk or cream—a perfect summer diet for any meal in the day.

Send your name on a postal card (mentioning Good Cookery in this paper) for "The Vital Question" and our latest booklet, "Summer Suggestions," which contain some valuable advice as to summer feeding, also choice recipes for the use of Shredded Wheat Biscuit. ## What Was Gladstone's Life Work?

In his home rule measures Mr. Gladstone set his hand for the first time to an important undertaking of constructive statesmanship, and the verdict must be that he was not equal to it, says The Atlantic. His life work has been in reforming statesmanship. In that he has had no peer. He has been, we may say, the greatest of those peaceful revolutionaries who lift and carry nations forward out of old conditions into new, who reconcile their institutions with advancing time and make them participant in the progress of the world. But this reparative work, most useful perhaps that true statesmanship can do, wins commonly less of the admiration of mankind than the framing of political systems and the building of states. Bismarck and Cavour, among Gladstone's contemporaries, are more than likely to rank above him in present and future opinion as belonging to an order of statesmen that is superior in its kind. The justice of that opinion is far from sure. It turns mostly upon a question of weight in moral qualities that are widely opposed. But the fact of it is to be recognized, and so, too, is the fact that when Gladstone attempted a serious work of constructive statesmanship he failed.

Not Proved.

A patient in an insane asylum imagined himself dead. Nothing could drive this delusion out of the man's brain. One day his physician had a happy thought and said to him:

"Did you ever see a dead man bleed?"

"No," he replied.

"Did you ever hear of a dead man bleeding?"

"No."

"Well, if you will permit me, I will try an experiment with you and see if you bleed or not."

The patient gave his consent. The doctor whipped out his scalpel and drew a little blood.

"There," said he, "you see that you bleed. That proves that you are not dead."

"Not at all," the patient instantly replied. "That only proves that dead men can bleed."—London Answers.

An Awkward Question.

"If you will marry me, I will make it my duty to anticipate your every wish."

"But are you sure that your anticipations would be realized?"—Brooklyn Life.

Two Blind Chaplains.

It is a coincidence that both the senate and house at Washington have blind chaplains. Milburn of the senate is considered the more distinguished, but Couden of the House is spoken of as the more eloquent. Couden is a man powerful in argument and a friend of the Woman's Christian Temperance union.

FACTS ABOUT HEALTH

It is Easy to Keep Well if We Know How—Some of the Conditions Necessary to Perfect Health.

The importance of maintaining good health is easily understood, and it is really a simple matter if we take a correct view of the conditions required. In perfect health the stomach promptly digests food. The blood is employed to carry nourishment to the organs, nerves, muscles and tissues which need it. The first great essential for good health, therefore, is pure, rich blood. No medicine has such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla and it is because it is the one true blood purifier. Hundreds of people are alive and well today who would have been in their graves had they not taken Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is depended upon as a family medicine by thousands.

Few of Cong. Knox's hearers at last Saturday's flag raising realized how difficult a thing it was for him to make an address at that time.

He had been for years interested in young Boardman whom he had but two years before been able to appoint a cadet at Annapolis. The young man's career there had been brilliant and full of the brightest promise, and Mr. Knox had taken great delight in his advancement. To have the joy from the peace news in the morning turned to sorrow over the death of one so dear in so short a time was a severe shock, and it was only upon earnest solicitation that Mr. Knox finally consented to come to Andover.

Certainly he could have brought no better message for the new flag to stand for than the message of a peace won through the willing sacrifice of just such noble young lives as that of Cadet Wm. H. Boardman.

The concrete walks in Andover have grown rapidly in the past ten years. In some localities their construction has been somewhat after the plan of state highway building, in the isolated sections that have been built.

It would seem wise now to begin the work of connecting some of these disconnected parts, and a noticeable one we have in mind, to make of much more value, is the bit on Salem Street from Chapel Avenue to Highland road. If this could be continued along Salem Street to Main Street it would make a dry walk next spring, that would be much appreciated by Salem Street people.

One of the biggest jumps in promotion for gallantry during the present war falls to the lot of a Phillips boy of only a few years ago, Arthur F. Cosby. He will be remembered by many of the younger TOWNSMAN readers as a prominent student and a Draper prize winner. At the breaking out of the war he enlisted as a private in the Rough Riders, and for gallantry at Santiago, where he was wounded five times, he has been promoted to the rank of Captain.

And we are glad to say he is a Harvard boy as well as an Andover boy.

Springfield, Mass., is also wrestling with the problem of lighting her shady streets. According to the Republican, the committee having the matter in charge will report at the first meeting of the city council in September, in favor of substituting Welsbach gas burners or incandescent electric globes for a large number of arc lights now in use there.

One side of Main Street from the square to the hill is now in first class condition, thanks to the improved grade of the car track, and Supt. Chandler's street building to meet it.

Wild flowers, cut flowers, plants and vegetables, will be on exhibition which is open to Andover and neighborhood.

CRICKET CLUB FLAG RAISING

Address by Congressman Knox—Merrimack Defeated in a Close Game.

The members of the Andover Cricket club gave four or five hundred citizens a good time Saturday and had a picnic themselves also. A game between the Merrimacks of Lawrence and the local team was attraction enough to draw a large crowd, but added to this was a flag raising with an address by Congressman William S. Knox and a concert by the Andover Brass Band. The cricket game was a good one and resulted in a victory for Andover, the speech was an inspiring one and the concert excellent. All voted the entertainment one of the best furnished by the club.

Congressman Knox arrived about four o'clock and the cricket game was stopped until after his address was over and the flag had been raised.

The assembly was called to order by Antoine B. Saunders, president of the Cricket club who introduced Ex-Representative William Odlin. In presenting Mr. Knox, Mr. Odlin referred to him as a man who is governed by what he thinks is right. He paid a glowing tribute to the congressman's career in Washington.

Mr. Knox said: "Up to twenty minutes ago I did not expect to be here this afternoon. I had looked forward with pleasure to the occasion but this morning I heard news which has made the day a sad one for me. A dispatch from the navy department conveyed to me the tidings of the death, by a gunshot wound at San Juan, of Cadet William H. Boardman of Lawrence, who represents the 5th district in the naval academy and thus represents you. I was requested to inform the young man's mother, a hard task for me to perform. It seemed hard that he should be killed just at the close of the war, for his life was so full of promise. He was one of the brightest young men at Annapolis and a great favorite among his schoolmates at the academy and his friends at home."

"I think there can be no better lesson of what this flag you raise to day means, what it signifies, than the statement that this young man freely gave his life for it. And it is the same with all those who have enlisted, fought, bled or died in the war just ended; they served this flag for humanity's sake."

"The sun now never sets on 'Old Glory,' the result of one of the most remarkable wars in the history of the world. What was the power that brought this all about? It was the greatest name in history, the American volunteers, the citizen soldiers. The victories won in this war were won by men possessed of the same spirit as those who guarded the tree of liberty at Plymouth, who drove back the savage, who endured at Valley Forge and triumphed at Yorktown, who won in 1812. The volunteer has always fought for liberty and now he has freed an oppressed people. The citizen soldier is now a symbol of power and other nations are beginning to recognize it. "It is inspiring to raise a flag in time of war, but it is grand to raise one as an emblem of peace. You are probably the first organization to raise a flag to proclaim the restoration of peace. Yes, the war is over. The boys will soon be with us again. The peace they fought for is secured. A tyrannical nation has been told what she must do, and an oppressed race has been relieved of a yoke."

"The men who have opposed the war should not forget what a glorious good we have done. Who is there now who would put this country back where it was three months ago and give Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines back to Spain? Who would take from the pages of history such names as Dewey and Hobson. The war was necessary. Almost in sight of our shores was a call on earth. Nameless crimes were committed upon innocent and defenseless women and children. Starvation was a common method of punishment. It was our duty to save these poor wretches and we have done it. It has cost lives and it has cost money, but it was all for humanity."

"When President William McKinley said in his message that the war in Cuba must stop, he did a thing which places him in history with Lincoln. "The war was visited the north and the south. Soldiers from all sections of the country have marched shoulder to shoulder to the front. For the first time this year the Fourth of July was celebrated in some places in the south. The rebel flag which was flying in Richmond when the war broke out, was hauled down never to be replaced. The country is one. There is now no north, no south, no east, no west. The results of the war are glorious and now that the war is over we can rejoice."

Mr. Knox was enthusiastically applauded. The band then struck up the "Star Spangled Banner," and the flag was raised to the mast head by John Porter, while the crowd cheered. The flag was a moment later placed at half mast in honor of Cadet Boardman.

The Cricket Game.

The game between the Merrimacks and Andovers had the most exciting finish of any game ever played on the home grounds. Seven of the Andover team were out for 31 runs and did not look as if the necessary runs would be forthcoming. J. C. Angus and Sullivan, however, came to the rescue grandly the former hitting off the runs while the latter kept up his wicket and Andover won amid great excitement.

The Merrimacks batted first and sent in Moss and Garrett facing the bowling of Bruce and Saunders. Neither batsman scored and half the team were out for 20 runs. Saxton played steadily however and Marshall and Wilkinson added 18 between them. The total score only reached 47 runs of which Saxton had 12. This was within five runs of their score in Lawrence and Andover expected an easy victory.

Haddon and Harry Saunders opened the batting Moss and Moseley bowling. Harry played Moss' first over safely but popped up an easy fly to Moseley in his first over. Bruce was the next batter and both he and Haddon shaped as if the score would be a large one. Bruce however was perished by the Lawrence umpire, a decision which seemed almost unexplainable.

Saunders had just begun to feel at home with the bowling when a smart catch by Marshall sent him back to the club house. Porter failed to add to the score and then McDermitt and Haddon brought the score up to 27 when the former was bowled by Moseley. At 31 both Robb and Haddon were out and with seven out for 35 runs the Merrimacks thought they would win easily.

Jim Sullivan was joined by J. C. Angus and the former by suborned defense the latter by free hitting, brought the score on a level with the Merrimacks when the former was bowled. He was heartily cheered when he reached the club house. McCarthy hit the first ball for a single and won the game for Andover. The excitement was intense. Angus continued to score rapidly and when Hilton was bowled, Jack had 18 not out to his credit got by good cricket. He received quite an ovation as he came in. Andover's score reached 62 runs, a majority of 15 over the Merrimacks.

The supporters of the latter team were considerably disappointed but the better team undoubtedly won. This game is Andover's tenth consecutive victory of the season.

Where the Baileys Went.

Aug. 11th was a threatening weather day, and the Essex Grangers, the First Heavy Artillery, and the Bailey family Reunions all suffered. I heard from the only Andover Bailey who perhaps felt obliged to go to Black Rocks, and his report of the Grange celebration gave the attendance as adim, reckoning Samuel H. as the only Bailey present. He, being eminently a man who travels with a family, found consolation in their absence in a day of bowling.

Baileys of the late war failed to return, somehow, and the honor roll record to be given in Bailey patches will pick up a few stragglers who did not get to Glen Forest. And so it would seem as if one Bailey from old Andover, besides the secretary Hollis R., who is a resident of Cambridge, might get to Tyngsboro, Willow Dale Grove. Anyway, I started out after the weather seemed lighter, to find the family party. Those long cars on the Lowell road have not learned to fit the track very well as yet, and they do not ride as quietly and easily as our shorter arrangements. But the ride was a delightful one, especially as I was long without anxiety. The station agent advised me to try Tyngsboro cars to the centre, but an observant motorman of the Nashua line had seen the placard of the Bailey tribe on the gate. When the car passed on to New Hampshire, I felt forlorn enough. Not a soul nor a bird in sight. Several summer structures for retailing tobacco, tickets, etc., seemed scattered in the radius of a pistol shot, but no sign of the steamer that makes its trip around the pond for 6 cents, and only the flapping of what seemed a clothesline well filled across the waters. When the next car came down, another sympathetic motorman encouraged me to begin the quarter hour tramp through the solemn and damp woods that in sunshine must have been most attractive. At last, a small child driving along, who watched me out of sight, a shepherd dog, a summer lake side hotel whose awnings flapped wildly, came to view, and gathered in an upper room were all the good Baileys listening to some very fine recitations and music, while around the bar or whatever the office headquarters is named, were grouped the caterer's force ready to serve the turkey dinner, which I could not eat but heard was the best on record. Of course, it was now one o'clock and only the sweetest voice of the Bailey tribe greeted me. Mary Bell Bailey of Lancaster and Eben H. Bailey, the Boston musical composer, insured the success of this feature. Baileys were in force from Newport, Vt., Nashua, Salem, N. H., Manchester, Hill, Milford, Saugus, and of course many from Lowell and Lawrence—sixty in all, and only one large enough to come up to my ideal of the ancient Baileys, John L. Bailey from Newton, I believe.

The announcement of the death of a old resident of Scituate, Edwin Bailey, long on the homestead of his ancestors, the probability of a genealogy now well under way towards publishing the report of a safe and solid condition of the treasury, the election of officers, the reading of a long letter from the son of James R. Bailey of Lawrence, assistant engineer on the Brooklyn during the "late unpleasantness," a beautiful poem from a Mrs. Bailey of Marietta, O., who was busy in making pajamas for the hospital ship, all this was varied with recitations by Miss Ella Fiske of Clinton, and followed by a paper upon Tyngsboro by William Bailey of Nashua, that I was sorry to lose. Among the old veterans was one whose feeble step will not long bring him down from Lee Hill. He confided to me that "the folks didn't want him to come and bid his pocketbook," but he escaped and gave us reminiscences and a hymn.

Of course my own work was first and the afternoon was spent comparing notes on an Andover line with one of the most charming of the very attractive Bailey ladies I have had the good fortune to meet, Mrs. Edward M. Bailey of Ashland, N. H., whose husband was born in Andover, and is one of the heirs-at-law of the Trull estate, through his grandmother Sara Trull Bailey.

A list of officers is given for the benefit of Andover members and I advise every Bailey to skip out to Tyngsboro next year if the gathering comes off there, for the Secretary will consider the best way to dodge the Grange attraction for the average Bailey farmer and farmeress.

LOST THE RUBBER GAME

Andover Made a Plucky Fight at Glen Forest, Saturday—Series Continued.

The Andover and Y. M. C. A. base-ball teams met and played the "rubber" game of the series Saturday afternoon at the Glen Forest grounds. The game was hot and exciting from start to finish, and although the Lawrence team secured a strong lead in the third inning, the Andover boys made a grand bid for the game in the eighth. Both teams put up an excellent fielding game. The batting of both sides was light. Wadlin held his opponents down to six hits, while Laurendeau was hit for eight bases.

On account of the close scores in the series just ended between these two teams, Managers Hennessey and Adams have decided to make it the best 4 out of 7 games and their next game will be played at Glen Forest, Saturday, Aug. 27, and any one who is in doubt as to the strength of these two teams and their playing qualities, should pay Glen Forest a visit on the 27th.

General Greely's 278 Days of Death.

The true story of those 278 days of suffering by Greely's heroic little band of explorers in the Arctic region has been told by General Greely himself, for the first time, for the October Ladies' Home Journal. For years General Greely has kept an unbroken silence about his fearful experience and that of his companions, as they dropped dead one by one at his side, and it was only after the greatest persuasion that the famous explorer was induced to write the story.

THE ANDOVER CREED

Discussion About It Raised by Recent Rejection of Rev. W. J. Long.

The Andover Creed subscription, says the Boston Transcript, has been since the refusal of the North Cambridge Council to ordain young Dr. Long, a scholar of high attainments, the subject of much comment not only in circles of Congregational ministers and Congregational journals, but to a considerable extent in the religious press throughout the country of different denominations. The interest in the matter has been so great that an attempt has been made to secure some authoritative statement pertaining to the Andover Creed. Hon. Simon E. Baldwin, LL.D., one of the best known jurists of the country, a member of the Connecticut Supreme Court of Errors, and professor of constitutional law in the Yale Law School, has, at the request of the Outlook, recounted the history and the judicial interpretation given to the subscription to the creed at Andover, and seems to show that the famous iron-bound instrument was strangely enough a compromise intended to allow theological hair-splitters to believe pretty much what they wanted to, provided they didn't call themselves infidels or Unitarians. Judge Baldwin was counsel for the Andover professors in their famous trial years ago, in what was well known as the Andover Case, and may be supposed to be able to account for the professors remaining where they are without swallowing the creed.

Judge Baldwin begins his paper by stating that "a creed is always preceded by a controversy. It is a talking of sides. To some controversies there are but two sides; to others a greater number. Whether atonement for human sin was made by the sufferings and death of Christ is a question to be answered Yes or No. What was the nature of the atonement, if made at all, may be the subject of a dozen theories." Judge Baldwin then states that a part of the framers of the creed were new-school, or moderate, Calvinists, and part were old-fashioned, or high, Calvinists, and part new-theory men. "The object had in view was to prevent the foundation of a new Congregational Divinity school in Massachusetts, which had been meditated by the high Calvinists, and to divert the funds which had been promised to it to the support of Andover. The professors were to state at their inauguration their belief in the doctrines as expressed in the Westminster Assembly's Shorter Catechism. There were many instances of divergence of opinion among the framers of the Associate Creed, 'a phase of comprehension' was wanted under which a liberty of choice and of individual judgment was possible in matters of secondary importance. An atonement for sin they held to be a fundamental doctrine. What that atonement was and how far it went was left either unsaid or so said as to present two opposing views from which each professor must be free to select for himself." A perpetual Board of Visitors was created, consisting of two clergymen and one layman, to see that every article of the creed should remain forever and identically the same, without the least alteration or any addition or diminution.

"The Board of Visitors," says Judge Baldwin, "has always construed the Associate Creed in substantial conformity with the principles thus laid down. The Andover professors are required to pledge themselves specifically to maintain and inculcate the Christian faith as expressed in the creed according to the best light God shall give them, in opposition not only to atheists and infidels, but to Jews, Papists, Mohammedans, Arians, Pelagians, Antinomians, Armenians, Socinians, Sabellians, Unitarians and Universalists, and all other heresies and errors which may be opposed to the gospel of Christ." No one, therefore, could honestly keep his chair who might adopt the views of any one of the sects thus enumerated, and who might not conscientiously believe they were right. "But," says Judge Baldwin, "the very precision of the specification serves to show that as the creed, when precision of statement was not employed or when significant omissions were made of doctrines prominent in the Westminster symbols, it was intended to restrict the just liberty of the Christian scholar."

Sewer Work Progressing.

Work on the new sewer has progressed favorably this week. Trenches have been started in Morton Street, between School and Main Streets, Bartlett Street and Chestnut Street, between Central and Main Streets.

The intersecting sewer has reached North Main Street and about three hundred feet of trench has been dug. This portion of the sewer, between North Main Street, south of the railroad bridge, along the bed of the old railroad and comes out on High Street at Harding Street.

Below the bridge, a sewer on Railroad Street will be built. As this is below the centre of gravity, the sewerage will have to be pumped up into the intersecting sewer. The force pump will be situated near Stimson's bridge.

The opening up of North Main Street again interferes with the street car traffic, and passengers are required to walk some distance below the rubber shop.

The same conditions continue to be met on Park Street. Blasting is still necessary. Progress has been slow on this trench.

The Railroad Street section will connect with the sewer on Essex Street. It will pass under the railroad tracks at the B. & M. station.

The hair, when not properly cared for, loses its luster, becomes crisp, harsh, and dry, and falls out freely with every combing. To prevent this, the best dressing in the market is Ayer's Hair Vigor. It imparts that silky gloss so essential to perfect beauty.

TEST AT NORTH LUBEC, ME.

Stockholders of the "Jernegan" Company Hope to Get More Gold.

While the majority of the stockholders in the Electrolytic Marine salts company, of which Rev. Mr. Jernegan, formerly of this town was president, are convinced that the scheme is a fraud, nevertheless it has not been conclusively proven that it is impossible to secure gold from the ocean.

A meeting of the stockholders of the company in this vicinity was held Tuesday evening in Boston. About two hundred men and women were in attendance.

The real business transacted was the appointment of a committee of five to advise the board of directors and if it is deemed wise, to make a test of the formula, or operation or whatever you may choose to call it, to see if gold can really be extracted from salt water with profit. J. O. Burdette presided.

Mr. Burke reported on the condition of affairs at North Lubec, where the company plants are located. The sum and substance of what he said was that if the process was any good the assets in that town would amount to about $50,000, otherwise they would dwindle to about $10,000.

Howard Brown, attorney for the company, explained the situation at length. After telling how the stock had been divided up for holding or for sale, he continued:

"Mr. Sawyer and Mr. Usher are ready to make any fair arrangement with you. They say if anybody has been deceived they have been misled just as completely. They are ready to take their commissions amounting to $105,000 or more, and apply them among the outside stockholders, if they are assured that they will not be sued. If you are going to sue the two gentlemen, why, they will fight the case out."

Mr. Ryan (mounting the platform) said: "I will introduce myself as the president of the company. If you want to bang away at me you can do me no harm. I say that it has gone out to the world over the signature of directors that the process is a failure. It has not gone over my signature. We have a process—no humbug about that—a process that appeals to a reasonable man. All the directors understand it well enough to operate it. Fisher has taken away a part of the electrical apparatus. I am not satisfied that gold cannot be taken from the accumulators with profit. Nobody knows that the plant is not a success. Chloride of gold did not go in, although we made chloride of gold there, and changed gold from one kind to another. (Laughter.) I have seen hundreds of dollars' worth removed from the accumulators when Jernegan and Fisher were not present. As I said, I am not satisfied that it can't be done. I don't say it can be done. I don't want to raise any false hopes, but a test would cost but a small sum. We understand the general principles of the whole plan and plant."

The discussion rambled off and ended in the appointment of a committee to advise the board of directors and make a test of the process if deemed advisable. The members of the committee are H. R. Perkins, of Newburyport, R. D. Kilgore, of Melrose Highlands, J. O. Burdette of Hingham, E. S. Davis of Middletown, Conn., and Arthur Johnson of Haverhill.

TIMOTHY HAGGERTY

A man respected by many citizens passed away last Monday in the death of Timothy Haggerty, almost a life long resident of Andover.

He had been ill for some time and his advanced age led his family to look for the end at any time. He had worked as gardener at many places in town, and his conscientious work and ability were recognized.

Funeral services were held this morning at St. Augustine's Church, and burial was in Andover.

GEORGE W. KELLEY.

Rev. George W. Kelley, one of the oldest graduates of the Andover Theological Seminary, died at his home in Haverhill, Tuesday, after an illness which had filled more than half of his life with suffering and pain.

Mr. Kelley was born in Lewisburg, Va. His early education was secured in the school of his native town, and when 19 years of age he entered the University of Athens, O., from which he graduated three years later. A four years course at Andover Theological Seminary followed. In May, 1854, he settled in Hamilton, where he continued more than 16 years. In the fall of 1869 he resigned his pastorate because of rapidly failing health. He then removed to the home of his wife's family, 45 Main Street, Haverhill, where he had since resided.

He leaves two children, Sarah M. of Haverhill, and David M., an attorney of Boston. An adopted son, Samuel Marsh, is a lawyer in New York city.

Drowned in the Merrimack.

Clarence, the 14-year-old son of Amos W. Spurr of 521 Andover street, was drowned Saturday afternoon about 3 o'clock while bathing with some comrades in the Merrimack, near Valley's cove. He got beyond his depth and being unable to swim was drowned before his companions could go to his assistance. His body was afterward recovered by Officer Taylor and the body was removed to Colby's undertaking establishment. The boy's father, who was at Weira, N. H., spending his vacation was immediately notified by telegraph. He is employed at Kimball Brothers' shoe factory.

The last sad rites over the remains of Clarence M. Spurr who was drowned while bathing last Saturday afternoon, were held at the family residence 521 Andover street, Carletonville, at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. E. Blake pastor of the church at Salem, N. H., was the officiating clergyman. Remains were laid in a white rose-cade velvet casket, bearing the following inscription:

Three Men Discharged.

As the result of an investigation by the officials of the L. & M. Street Railway company regarding the cause of the accident at Breezy point between here and Lowell, Sunday July 31 three employees of the road have been discharged. They are Starter Ives, Conductor Joseph Sullivan and Motorman James Rolley.

Superintendent Morton declined to discuss the case more than to say that the men named were no longer employees of the road.

As will be remembered, the accident which has resulted in the discharge of the men, took place about noon, July 31, when two cars collided at a sharp curve near the narrow. The car coming from Lowell was a vestibule and was fairly imbedded in the smaller car from Lawrence. The accident was due to a misunderstanding as to the change of running time from 30 to 15 minutes. Under half hour time the two cars would have met at the turnout at Downing's corner, and under 15 minute time at the Belle grove turnout.

The car coming from Lowell was in charge of Conductor Joseph Sullivan and Motorman James Rolley. Conductor Joseph Higgins of Andover and Motorman Edward Coughlin were in charge of the car from Lawrence.

Conductor Sullivan stoutly maintained that he had not been notified of the change of running time and had received no orders to meet at the Belle grove turnout. Starter Ives, on the contrary, declared that he had given the necessary notification to Mr. Sullivan.

Motorman Rolley claimed that the car was in charge of Conductor Sullivan and that he would not have left the turnout at Belle grove if he had not received the starting signal from the conductor. He says that he was told that there would be no 15 minute time. Mr. Rolley received the worst injuries of anyone in the accident and it is a wonder that he was not killed.

Mr. Rolley, it is said will sue the road for damages.

Not Immoral.

Rev. J. T. McBean, of the state Y. M. C. A., who was sent out to Chickamauga with the 8th Massachusetts regiment came to Lawrence Monday morning. Mrs. T. W. Nesbitt, regarding the attacks which have been made upon the conduct of the soldiers in camp. Rev. Mr. McBean was vigorous in his defense of the boys.

He is slowly recovering from the effects of malarial fever, and while he cannot be called a sick man now, he is very weak.

ON THE TEXAS.

Harry N. Dearborn, master-at-arms on the U. S. battleship Texas, arrived in Lawrence Monday to spend a six days' furlough with relatives.

Dearborn was interviewed by a reporter Monday noon at the home of his sister Mrs. Morrill on Florence place. He is looking the picture of health and says that he never felt better in his life. The Texas has been in the Brooklyn drydock several days and thus the men aboard of her have been able to get furlough and visit their homes.

Dearborn has brought home many trophies of the victory of the American squadron over the fleet of Cervera. He has a Mauser rifle which he picked up from the deck of the Maria Teresa after the engagement. The rifle is in wretched shape, all the wood work having been burned off and the temper of the steel taken out by fire. From the Quintero Dearborn secured a watch chain which had been ruined by the flames and he also picked up a good many Spanish coins among the debris. On the Quintero, he says, he saw a line of dead men stretching from the engine rooms to the deck, the bodies charred by fire and riddled with shot.

The victory over Admiral Cervera was due, he says, to the effective work of the American rapid fire guns. The Spanish prisoners admitted that there was a perfect rain of shot and shell which actually drove them from their guns. The officers tried to keep them at their posts by shooting them in the legs, they said, but it was impossible to stand the terrific fire of the Americans. That our gunnery was effective was shown by the wrecks which were made of the Spanish ships. After the battle they could hardly be recognized. They were a mass of twisted iron and steel and were all on fire.

Dearborn says that Admiral Sampson was not in the fire at all.

Central Labor Union.

The Central Labor union held a lively meeting in Carpenters hall Tuesday evening. The awarding of the work on the new French convent to a contractor who is a non-resident, was the cause of considerable discussion. The members claimed that it was the lack of activity of the building committee, which submitted the contract to go out of town, and they were severely criticised.

President Byrne submitted his report of the State Federation of Labor convention. He said in part that a prosperous year was reported and that satisfactory progress had been made in securing more uniformity in the hours of labor.

The chairman of the legislative committee, John F. O'Sullivan, advocated strongly the election of such men to office who would further labor interests.

Charges were preferred against President Pierce of the Federation of Labor. The time for holding the convention was changed to the second Monday of October in North Adams.

A number of resolutions recommended by the legislative committee, which were submitted by President Byrne and he read the resolutions condemning the 25 cent tax on rent bills.

An Ugly Throw.

Richard O'Brien, who resides at 231 Chestnut street, this city, was badly injured last evening. He was riding home from Charlestown, and when going down a steep hill collided with a tandem ridden by two Lowell young men. It is stated that he was coasting, and ran into the rear wheel of the tandem. All were thrown but the two Lowell men were unhurt but O'Brien was very seriously injured.

He was assisted to a neighboring house, and a doctor summoned, who dressed his injuries. An ugly cut on the right side of his head required several stitches. His other injuries consisted of a badly cut and bruised arm and shoulder and a deep cut on the left leg. Accompanied by a Reading officer he was brought to this city on the 9.03 train, and conveyed from the station in the patrol wagon to his home.

At the Theatres.

The theatrical season in Lawrence will begin August 26, one week from Friday, when the opera house will be opened.

Blaney's "A Hired Girl" will be the attraction the first night. All the bookings for the season have not yet been made, but the list will include some of the best plays, and several stars will winter.

The opera house has undergone extensive alterations and repairs this summer, including a new stage and on entirely new system of plumbing. Manager Grant has endeavored to make the interior as attractive as possible to the patrons of the house.

The Lawrence New Theatre will be opened early in September. A good list of high class vaudeville and burlesque shows has been booked.

The theatre has been renovated and the interior freshened up by paint.

Held Two Inquests.

Two inquests were held by Associate Justice Bell after the criminal session of police court Tuesday, to inquire into the deaths of Michael McLaughlin and James Rogers, both of whom were killed on the Boston & Maine railroad.

A strange fact brought out in the hearing was that the train which killed McLaughlin was numbered 13, an unlucky one as circumstances tended to show.

Thrown From a Wagon.

Frank Peter, employed by L. Sprague & Co., was thrown from a wagon Tuesday morning while driving in the company's yard on Lowell street with a load of boxes. They were piled up rather high and struck the archway over the entrance.

Mr. Peter was thrown to the ground but not seriously injured. He was removed to the hospital for medical attendance.

Merrill Emerson McPhail*PIANOS

Few people have the courage to buy a cheap piano after carefully examining a really fine one. A pretty casing is often designed to sell a poor musical instrument. These well known makes combine beauty outside and worth within. Among the first-class ones these three are the most popular—not low priced and inferior, but cheap for their superior quality. These pianos can be purchased from $300 to $400, according to size and case—quality just the same. We will rent you one of these famous instruments for three months delivered right in your home for $15. Medium grade pianos for $12. Cheap pianos for $10. If you decide the piano is all we claim for it and decide to purchase, the rent will be allowed as payment on your instrument.

Foul-Smelling Catarrh.

There is but one way to cure it. The disease is in the blood, and all the sprays, washes and inhaling mixtures in the world can have no permanent effect whatever upon it. Swift's Specific cures Catarrh permanently, for it is the only remedy which can reach the disease and force it from the blood.

Mr. B. P. McAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., had Catarrh for years. He writes: "I could see no improvement whatever though I was constantly treated with spray and washes, and different inhaling remedies."

"Finally it was brought to my notice that Catarrh was a blood disease, and after thinking over the matter, I saw it was unreasonable to expect to be cured by remedies which only reached the surface. I then decided to try S. S. S., and after a few bottles were used, I noticed a perceptible improvement. Continuing in fact, I could feel that each winter I was worse than the year previous."

"To continue the wrong treatment for Catarrh is to continue to suffer. Swift's Specific is a real blood remedy, and cures obstinate, deep-seated diseases which other remedies have no effect whatever upon. It promptly reaches Catarrh, and never fails to cure even the most aggravated cases."

SALEM SOLDIER DEAD.

SALEM, Aug. 17.—A telegram was received here yesterday afternoon by a friend of young William H. Sanders, dated at Montauk Point, saying that Sanders died at Santiago. This was the first information, aside from the report in the papers of the bare name, that the friends have had. The young man's father and mother are in New York, where they went last Saturday, expecting to meet their son on his return from the front. They did not know that he was ill.

It is expected that Mr. Sanders will immediately seek to have the body brought back to Salem. This is the only death of a Salem man during the war. The flags in Salem were generally placed at half-mast yesterday out of respect to the memory of Private Sanders.

John Clapperton, aged 18, William Clapperton, 19, Stephen Nelson, 14, Burpee Nelson, 13, and George Reed 12, were arrested Sunday afternoon on a charge of larceny, the last of the quintette being rounded up at about 7.45 o'clock. The arrests were made by Chief of Police Tooley and were the outcome of depredations in and about the Kunhardt camp and the Country club houses at different periods since February and up to within two weeks ago. For the past three weeks Chief Tooley has been dogging beneath "vine and fig tree" so to speak, in search of the youngsters and following up various clues. According to the officer, the Clappertons and Reed entered the Country club house, and John Clapperton and the Nelsons entered Kunhardt's place. Fishing tackle, two bathing suits and a pipe, were taken from the latter place and silver spoons from the club house. Most of the property except the pipe which was found where the boys in their hurry probably dropped it was returned to the officer. The fishing tackle pointed out by one of the boys, lay hidden in the deep grass and shrubbery near the "flats" bridge, and the bathing suits and spoons were at the parish. In court Wednesday, John Clapperton was fined $10 on two counts of simple larceny, and for a like charge William Clapperton and George Reed were fined $5 each. The cases of the Nelson boys were continued until September.

Saturday was a glorious day for the picnic of St. Paul's parish and was largely attended. Drew; three legged race, David Bruce; James Goff; blind man's dash, David Bruce; potato race, George Meserve; sack race, David Bruce; standing broad jump, James Goff; boat race, single, James Goff; boat race, double, Walter H. Stone, W. H. Knowles; tug of war—James Goff, captain, George Meserve, H. Knowles, L. Johnson, D. Bruce, anchor—W. G. Stone, captain, B. Watts, W. Drew, W. Braikford, Geo. Whooley, anchor. Captain Goff's team won. These games were supplemented in the afternoon by a game of baseball between nine captained by Walter G. Stone and James Goff. Captain Stone's team won by a score of 9-5. Prizes were awarded the victors by George Meserve. W. G. Stone and Albert Carrier acted as judges. During the ball game, Ed. Curley had the two middle fingers of one hand split near the palm while catching a long fly. A Salem, N. H., physician stitched the wound. In the afternoon there was dancing in the pavilion. Surgical treatment was given by Drs. Chamberlain and Manchester yesterday. The injury consisted of badly crushed muscles of the right forearm and splintering of the contiguous bones. There was also a bad laceration of the flesh above the elbow. It is hoped that good nursing and medical skill may save the arm but it is not assured that amputation may not be necessary.

A Popular Beach.

Old Orchard is one of the best as well as one of the most popular beaches on the New England coast, and its high standing as a leading summer resort can be attributed to many reasons. Its location is such that every ocean breeze that blows sweeps it, and its coolness is restful and invigorating. The bathing facilities are superb, while boating and fishing are attractions which attract many.

The new Ocean Pier which has just been erected at an enormous cost is a wonderful piece of handiwork, and a very delightful time is in store for those who visit it.

The Casino, which is at the end of the Pier some 1800 feet out into the bay, has beside an elegant amusement and dancing hall, a restaurant where a most palatable dinner is served at a small cost.

The Boston & Maine railroad is to run a cheap excursion to Old Orchard on August 25, from Andover, the rate for the round trip to be $1.50. See advertisement in papers.

The Best Remedy for Flux.

Mr. John Mathias, a well known stock dealer of Paducah, Ky., says: "After suffering for over a week with flux, and my physician having failed to relieve me, I was advised to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and have the pleasure of stating that the half of one bottle cured me." For sale by Arthur Bliss, Andover, C. H. Shattuck, Ballardvale.

New England Fair

There are fairs and fairs, but that mammoth exhibition at Rigby Park Portland, known the country over as the New England Fair, is by far the most pretentious, the most famous and the most interesting and instructive of any that are held.

In arranging the program no efforts were spared, and liberal prizes have been offered in every line, and the result is apparent, for the entries in every department have far surpassed the anticipation of the management.

There are departments devoted to Agriculture, Cattle, Horses, Horticulture, Floriculture, Poultry, Dairy Products and the varied branches of the household, and every one of them is directed by persons whose experience is sufficient to assure success.

It is customary at all fairs to have horse racing, but at the New England Fair the races are conducted by the Maine Mile Track Association, and purses amounting to $15,000 are offered. In the entries are horses from all over the country, and the National Trotting Association rules govern.

The races at Rigby during the present season have all been record breakers, and the events of the coming week will also be well worth seeing.

In the afternoon of each day of the fair between the heats there will be an entertainment of the Vaudeville class that will be beyond comparison.

There will also be bicycle races in which the New England leaders will contest, and that pacing wonder, "Albatross," will give exhibitions of pacing without harness every day.

Of course there will be the usual contests of strength between cattle and horses, and in fact there is no detail that remains undone in the perfecting of this great show.

At the City Hall in Portland, there will be exhibitions which should not miss, and concerts by bands and orchestras will be given at frequent intervals.

Every body expects to visit the Midway and side-show, without which no fair is complete, and, taking everything into consideration, this is an event you should not miss.

The Fair is to be held at Rigby Park, South Portland, on August 22nd to 26th, inclusive, and on these dates the Boston & Maine Railroad will sell reduced rate tickets to Rigby Park from nearly every station on its system, and the rate, which is very low, will include an admission to the Park, and the trains will run every few minutes between Portland and Rigby Park, while all suburban trains on the days of the Fair will make regular stops at the Park.

The Little Queen's Picture.

Wilhelmina, who is to be crowned Queen of the Netherlands on September 6 next, has personally sent to Mr. Bok, the editor of The Ladies' Home Journal,—himself a Hollander by birth—one of her private portraits for publication in the next number of his magazine. It is the last portrait which will be taken of the little lady before her coronation, and will be printed in connection with a specially prepared sketch, showing the personality of the first Queen of Holland from every point of view.

A Time Saving Time-Table.

A great deal of valuable time has been lost in the study of time tables since the introduction of steam railways. But a new, ingenious and simple complication, called the instantaneous Railway and Steamboat Time Teller removes at one sweep all the defects of ordinary time tables. In this the names of more than 800 New England passenger stations are arranged in alphabetical order. Under each is noted the time of departure of all trains or boats, distances from Boston both in time and miles, times of departure from Boston of trains stopping at those stations, and rates of fare, single, commutation and excursion. Thus full information in regard to any station can readily be gained by any man, woman or child, with no other knowledge than the name of the place. The Time Teller is issued in vest pocket form on or about the first of every month by the Boston Time Table Co., Equitable Bldg., Boston. The subscription price is $1 per year, including a fine leather case, embossed with the subscriber's name in gold leaf. Single copies are on sale at all news and book and stationery stores at 10c each.

"I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for years and always with good results," says Mr. W. B. Cooper of El Rio, Cal. "For small children we find it especially effective." For sale by Arthur Bliss, Andover, C. H. Shattuck, Ballardvale.

POISON OR A REVOLVER.

Fearful Alternative Rev. Flavius J. Brobst Gave His Better Half.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—The alternative of poison or a revolver with which to end her life was offered by Rev. Flavius J. Brobst, the preacher and lecturer, to his wife, according to a bill for divorce filed in the superior court by Mrs. Brobst. The wife alleges in her bill that she chose laudanum as the means with which to commit suicide, and that her life was only saved after she swallowed the drug by the circumstances of her having consumed a quantity of milk, which ameliorated its effects.

During the time Mrs. Brobst was unconscious from the effect of the drug, a period of about 21 hours, as stated in the bill, Mrs. Brobst alleges that her husband, according to what he later told her, preached two sermons. She also charges her husband with squandering her property. There has been trouble between Brobst and his wife for a long time, and he has threatened to begin divorce proceedings against his wife.

Much Wanted Seconded.

Westerly, Aug. 17.—Evidence is being accumulated by the state officers to show that C. H. Schooley, who is held for the murder of Maria F. Flynn at Watch Hill last week, has a questionable reputation. It is alleged that on July 2, 1894, he married a girl in Newcastle, Ind., and deserted her, and that in 1896, he was convicted of committing a felonious assault on a 13-year-old girl, and a reward of $100 is in effect there for his apprehension. It is also claimed that in July, 1897, he visited Stamford, Conn., and a young girl refusing his advances became frightened to such a degree that she attempted suicide by the use of paris green. He is also wanted in Williamantic for larceny.

Dynamite Exploded.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—An attempt was made to take the lives of John Hill, Jr., his wife and two children by exploding a heavy charge of dynamite against Mr. Hill's residence in Belmont, a suburb of this city. None of the family suffered injury, although the frame and sash of the window where the explosive was placed were blown with great force into the bedroom where Mr. Hill was sleeping. The crime is believed to be inspired, if not executed, by race track men against whom Mr. Hill, as an officer of the Civic federation, has conducted a crusade.

Killed in Wedding Gown.

New York, Aug. 18.—Annie Jantzen's home life was happy, her husband was devoted, their home was a model of comfort and cleanliness and yet today the bride of seven weeks lies a corpse in the little parlor which bears so many evidences of her refinement and good taste. In her wedding finery she killed herself. She dearly loved children, yet the fear came over her and was ever present that she would never become a mother and live. Mrs. Jantzen was 25 years old.

Six Were Killed.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 18.—News reached here yesterday of an accident on the Union Colliery railway line, resulting in the death of at least six persons. The wires to Union City are down, and full details have not been received. As far as can be learned a large work train with a passenger coach attached plunged through the trestle which spans the Trent river about midway between Whalen and Union City. The trestle is about 125 feet high and 500 feet long.

FIRST ON THE KLONDIKE

THE JOSEPH LADUE
GOLD MINING AND DEVELOPMENT COMPANY OF YUKON.

PRICE OF SHARES TO BE ADVANCED AUGUST 31, 1898.

Mr. Joseph Ladue, the pioneer of the Klondike, and founder of Dawson City, aided by some of the most conservative and successful financiers of New York, is operating the strongest company yet formed for mining and trading in the Yukon gold fields.

To this Company he has transferred placer claims on Hunker and Gold Bottom Creeks, the "Marguerite" Quartz Mine, his Saw Mill, his Timber Lease, that virtually monopolizes the saw timber on the Klondike, and large holdings of Choice Town Lots in Dawson City. The Company also owns the S. S. "Morgan City" now earning $20,000 per month, and has shipped up the Yukon several hundred tons of merchandise, for trade, upon which a very large profit is assured. The U. S. Government reports certify that the saw mill produces about two million feet of lumber in the open season, sales price of which is from $140 to $240 per 1,000 feet according to class.

CAPITAL OF THE COMPANY.
Preferred Stock, 65 cumulative, $1,000,000
Common Stock, 4,000,000
Total Capital, par value, $10 per share, $5,000,000

The preferred stock has a first lien on earnings for its dividend, and on the assets of the Company for its par value, and after all the stock of the Company has received 6 per cent, the surplus earnings are shared pro rata by the preferred and common stock.

Thus the preferred stock practically offers the safeguards and advantages of a first mortgage bond, coupled with an earning capacity as great as that of the common stock.

The undersigned has obtained a short option on a block of this preferred stock which he now offers at par, $10.00 per share. This option terminates August 31st, 1898, after which the price of the preferred stock will be advanced by the Company to $12.50 per share.

This is the last opportunity to get the preferred stock at par, and in time to participate in the autumn dividend. Shares will be allotted in the order subscriptions are received.

CHARLES A. SAWYER, 230 WASHINGTON ST. BOSTON.

FLYING AND CRAWLING THINGS

Now that hot weather is at hand we are going to call your attention to the fact that flies, bugs and mosquitoes will make their appearance in force.

Flies are persistent creatures. No matter how many screens you have up they will get in. Better buy our poison or sticky fly paper. We have both kinds—put up in convenient forms. One sheet of poison or two of sticky for 5c.

Now for bugs. Norwood's Insect Liquid is death to bugs, roaches, mosquitoes, buffalo bugs, and all other such pests. Will not injure the most delicate fabrics. One bottle 25c.

Did you ever sit in a hammock? What a foolish question to ask, of course you have, but you'll never know what pure comfort is until you try one of our $9.25 hammocks.

To be sure we have cheaper ones all the way from $1 up.
